

Devotional for

“Our Great Purpose”

Sunday, January 20, 2019

During your prayer and meditation time, consider Jesus’s parable in Luke 12:13-21 about the rich person who was a fool.

Then, consider these questions:

- ❖ In what area(s) of my life have I foolishly given away my soul?
 - List as many as apply.

- ❖ When I consider these areas, how have I compromised myself, my beliefs, and especially, the truth of who I am here to be and what I most love to do?
 - List as much as applies.

- ❖ What are at least three (3) things I can do right now to reclaim my soul and all the people, places, things, and activities I love most?
 - List as many ideas as apply.

As you contemplate this devotional, remember that parables invite us to review our own lives, behaviors, beliefs, and choices, so we can live differently. Be gentle with yourself and take as much time and space as you need to allow new ways of living to unfold. And, consider keeping this devotional in a sacred place so you can celebrate your personal growth.
